Supporter Highlights

Mission

CEM was founded in 1993 with the simple, but focused mission of “Applying Practical Science to Improve Communities.” CEM believes firmly that strong and vibrant communities are the very foundation of our country, and that businesses have an obligation to provide products and services that focus on enhancing and enriching communities. CEM strives to fulfill their responsibility to communities by providing the most practical and sensible scientific solutions to problems and challenges that face its neighbors.

Service Overview

CEM is a full-service environmental consulting firm serving commercial and governmental entities throughout the mid-Atlantic region. As consultants, they serve as trusted environmental advisors to clients who need services to responsibly manage the natural resources that affect their business concerns. CEM solves client's environmental challenges by carefully considering the complex inter-relationships of the environmental sciences including: geology, hydrology, ecology, geomorphology, geography, and engineering.
